

Abby Johnson was passionate about helping women in her PLANNED PARENTHOOD CLINIC, but then

WHAT SHE SAW CHANGED EVERYTHING UNPLANNED

The movie UNPLANNED is the true story of Abby Johnson's experiences while working in an abortion clinic for eight years. Ashley Bratcher portrays Abby's gradual transformation from pro-choice clinic director to pro-life speaker.

Abby Johnson's healing from her own abortions and her compassion for workers in the abortion industry motivated her to found "And Then There Were None," a group offering income support and job counselling for workers who want to leave the abortion industry.
